Affinity Recipient

Janine Gaunt

Senior Manager, Recreation Operations, City of Hamilton
Assistant Basketball Coach, Mohawk College

Janine Gaunt is a long-time volunteer in the Hamilton sports community.

A graduate of the Recreation Leadership program, today she is the Senior Manager of Recreation Operations at the City of Hamilton and an assistant basketball coach at Mohawk College.

Since 2004, Janine has been a volunteer basketball coach with the Blessed Sacrament Basketball Club, the Soldiers JUEL Program and Ontario Basketball's Talent Identification Camp. In 2024 she was awarded the Bernetta Scime Assistant Coach of the Year Award for her contributions to the Mohawk Women's Basketball program.

Her volunteer contributions also include serving as an official with the Hamilton Board of Approved Basketball Officials for over 20 years, officiating high school, OCAA and OUA level basketball, in addition to time as treasurer for the Hamilton Board and Secretary to the Ontario Universities Association (OUA) West Panel of Officials. She has coached and been a chaperone for three International Children's Games competitions and was instrumental in the City of Hamilton's hosting of the games in 1994 and 2000. She is currently serving as a Director with the Hamilton chapter.

In her 34-year career with the City of Hamilton, Janine has developed and trained hundreds of youth in the recreation field and has influenced many recreation programs and partnerships in the community. In her current role, she provides guidance and leadership for recreation centres, indoor and outdoor pools, seniors centres, seasonal programs, camps and city-wide standards for the Recreation Division.

Jason Herd

CEO and Founder, Tradetraks Inc.

Jason Herd is an entrepreneur helping businesses in the trades be more efficient and maximize their profits.

Jason is founder and CEO of Tradetraks Inc., a Hamilton-based software provider that automates and streamlines the management operations, finances, health and safety, human resources and internal communications for construction and service trades industry companies.

A graduate of both the Electrical Engineering Technician – Power and Electrician – Construction & Maintenance (Apprenticeship) programs, he founded Tradetraks in 2019 and soon plans to expand into the U.S. market.

Jason was named among the top 40 under 40 by SiteNews, a construction trade publication, in 2022.

Before starting his own business, Jason grew his career at Fairway Electrical, working his way up from electrical apprentice to project manager to vice-president, and finally serving as president.

When Jason tried to solve gaps in Fairway's operational processes through technology, he couldn't find an application so he developed one himself— assembling a Canadian-based team that would create Tradetraks.

Beverley Dinham Spencer

Chairperson, Strategic Management & Training
Consultants Limited

Beverley Dinham Spencer is a leader of training and educating in Jamaica.

After graduating in 1972, she went on to become founder and chairperson of Strategic Management & Training Consultants Limited in 1989, and founder, principal and director of allied healthcare training institute SMTC Career Institute (SMTC-CI) in 2017.

Her clients include corporate, philanthropic, health and educational organizations in Jamaica and internationally. The training provided at the SMTC-CI allows Jamaicans to become certified nursing assistants or personal support workers to fill vacancies in Canada or in their home country.

In 2021, under her leadership SMTC-CI became the first international member of the National Association of Career Colleges (NACC) of Canada. This has allowed students to access several Canadian certification courses while in Jamaica.

Beverley has served on several boards in Jamaica and the Bahamas. She is the former president of the Institute of Management Consultants, co-founder, and director of the Jamaica Foundation for Cardiac Disease, later changed to Jamaica Foundation for Community Development (Health) and founding member of the Florida Space Coast Chapter of the National Congress for Black Women.

Beverley has volunteered with a range of organizations, including being a founding member of the Phadrian Community Citizens Association in Jamaica. She was a member of the Taskforce on the Safeguarding and Protection of Children in Sport as well as the E-Covid Sub-Committee on Independent Schools established by the Government of Jamaica.

Following her diploma at Mohawk, she earned a degree from Wayne State University, a master's from Clemson University and a master's from the United Theological College of the West Indies. She is also a Florida certified Nursing Assistant.

Community Services Recipient

Stacey Hill

Indigenous Liaison Officer, Hamilton Police Services

Stacey Hill is the first Indigenous liaison officer for Hamilton Police Services.

Her liaison role, which she assumed in late 2022, is meant to build stronger relationships between police and Indigenous communities. Members of Hamilton's Indigenous community held a traditional welcoming ceremony for Stacey in April 2023. At the ceremony, she was presented with an eagle feather, a high honour in the Indigenous community meant to represent the good work she has done and will do moving forward.

She has worked for HPS for more than 25 years serving as a patrol officer in the east end and now works closely with Hamilton's newly formed Indigenous Consultation Circle to assist Indigenous people in navigating contacts with police.

Stacey has led training at HPS for all officers and civilians to teach them about Indigenous people and their histories, including colonization, systemic racism, the Sixties Scoop and residential schools.

She is dedicated to community advocacy and helped to form the original Hamilton Aboriginal Advisory Board. She has served as a liaison between HPS and First Nations members during the dispute over the construction of the Red Hill Valley Parkway, served on a committee dedicated to race relations and missing Aboriginal women, and was a mentor at the Niwasa Head Start Daycare.

As a teen, she was Miss New Credit, an ambassador role for Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation and she conducted tours of the Mush Hole, the notorious former Mohawk residential school that is now the Woodland Cultural Centre.

Ricardo Gonzalez

Artist, It's a Living

Ricardo Gonzalez is a designer and artist who has travelled the world for his art.

"It's a Living" is Ricardo's brand, and personal philosophy. He has painted a giant wall mural in Paris in 2023, "Amor" on the side of a building in Mexico City and hosted a dozen solo art shows in Tokyo, Mexico City, Paris, Seoul, and New York. His work has been featured in group shows in Vienna, Osaka and across the U.S.

He has also worked with top brands like Apple, Nike, Bentley, Google, Pepsi, Budweiser, Toyota, Monster and many more. For one of Ricardo's most recent brand collaborations he painted his company's name over Google Pixel ads to promote the phone's new mint green colour and was featured in a commercial for the campaign.

After graduating from Mohawk, he worked as a screen printer in Ottawa. Then he returned to his hometown of Durango, Mexico, to work full-time as an independent designer. After attending The Cooper Union Advancement of Science and Art in New York, he worked as a graphic designer and art director in NYC while displaying his art in group shows, before eventually launching his own business.

His awards include a Young Guns 15 from the Art Directors Club in 2017, typography and lettering awards from Print Mag and COMMARTS, and an International Issue Award from HOWDesign.

Ricardo is a member of the American Institute of Graphic Arts, Art Directors Club and Working Not Working.

Health Sciences Recipient

Lori Zozzolotto

Regional Clinical Specialist, Convatec Canada

Lori Zozzolotto followed her passion for nursing later in life and is making the very most of her career today.

As the regional clinical specialist at Convatec Canada, a global medical company, she specializes in wound, ostomy and continence care. Her previous positions include supervisor of home and personal support services with Acclaim Health, a community nurse with the Victorian Order of Nurses, and an emergency nurse at the Oakville Trafalgar Hospital.

In 2023, Lori received an award of merit from the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario (RNAO) for her outstanding contributions to the nursing profession in Ontario.

In addition to her Mohawk-McMaster Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BScN) credential, Lori earned a registered practical nurse (RPN) diploma from Sheridan College, a leadership and management certificate from McMaster University, and studied journalism at the Toronto Metropolitan University.

Lori volunteers with many organizations to enhance the field of nursing. She is the chair of Black Nurses Leading Change, an initiative of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario's Black Nurses Task Force. She is also a development officer with the Ontario Black Nurses Network (OBNN), and a member/presenter of the OBNN's Black Leadership Institute (BNLI), and a member of the standards committee of Nurses Specialized in Wound, Ostomy and Continence Canada.

Along with an ostomy patient, Lori co-founded and now co-chairs the Chatham Ostomy Support Group.

Amanda is leading Indigenous initiatives and working to embed Indigenous knowledge and ways of knowing in all aspects of Mohawk College, including academic programs and processes.

In her role as Director of CIRKL, she has supported the establishment of the Centre for Indigenous Relations, Knowledge and Learning (CIRKL), and related ongoing initiatives including partnerships, Indigenous Knowledge Learning Outcomes (IKLO), professional development, and policy creation and updates.

In her time previously as the manager of Indigenous Student Services, Amanda led a contingent of Pathfinder participants and staff to the World Indigenous People Conference on Education (WIPCE) in Adelaide, Australia in 2022 to present on the program. She has also spoke about the program at the Hawaii International Conference of Education, the Chiefs of Ontario – Special Education Forum, and the third Truth and Reconciliation Conference hosted by Mohawk College.

In 2012, Amanda and two colleagues received a Mohawk College President’s Award for the program.

She has served on the Mohawk College Board of Governors and joined the Alumni Advisory Council in late 2023. She has worked as a part-time faculty member for the Indigenous Studies courses, supported the conversations to establish a competitive lacrosse program at the college with the Athletics department, and has offered professional development sessions internally and externally on subjects like Land Acknowledgements and terminology.

Amanda White is First Nations, Ojibwe with family from Wiikwemkoong, Manitoulin Island and was born and raised in Hamilton.

In addition to her three credentials from Mohawk College, she has also graduated from Queen’s University with a BA in English Language and Literature.

Adil Khalqi

Police Constable, Brantford Police Service
Town Councillor, Town of Milton

Adil Khalqi is dedicated to public service.

Just four years out of college, he is both a police constable with the Brantford Police Service and a town councillor in the Town of Milton.

Hired in 2021, Adil became a police constable; and just one year into his position with the Brantford Police Service, he was nominated for a Police Association of Ontario Police Hero Award in the Community Role Model category. The award recognizes officers or civilian employees for going above and beyond the call of duty. Adil was nominated by a high school student he is mentoring.

In the 2022 Milton Municipal Election, Adil became the youngest Councillor to ever be elected to Milton Town Council. Adil's election platform included pacing growth to match infrastructure and public services capability, improving road safety and having diverse, young and engaged leaders elected to council.

His dedication to giving back began at the age of 10. His list of volunteer affiliations includes several organizations in his community such as MADD Halton, Crime Stoppers of Halton, Milton Navy League Cadets, local food and toy drives, Special Olympics, political campaigns and more.

Adil aspires to be a role model for other young people to become leaders in their community and prides himself on mentoring youth to achieve their utmost potential, and champions the importance of equity, diversity and inclusion.

Andrew Moles

General Manager, PCL Construction Canada Inc.

Andrew Moles is leading the rapid expansion of renewable energy projects for Canada's largest construction company.

Andrew began his career at PCL Construction Canada Inc. in 2007 as a co-op student working alongside the team who oversaw the $3.5-billion new terminal development project at Toronto Pearson International Airport. Today, Andrew is the general manager of PCL Construction's solar division.

Andrew is credited by PCL leadership for pioneering the expansion of PCL Construction's renewable energy division across Canada, the United States and Australia.

Over the years, Andrew has served as a board member on the Canadian Solar Industries Association and as a board member and vice-chair of the Utility-Scale Solar Division of the US Solar Energy Industries Association. He is a Gold Seal certified project manager by the Canadian Construction Association and is a LEED accredited professional.

In 2021, Andrew was recognized by On-Site Magazine's Top 40 under 40 in Canadian Construction and in 2015, received PCL's prestigious Robert Stollery Construction Leadership Award.

Outside of work, Andrew is committed to mentoring at-risk youth, serving as a co-developer and facilitator of the CityKidz Roadmaps to Dreams program in Hamilton.
